

DANIEL WOLFF RESIGNS FROM SCHOOL BOARD

The resignation of Daniel J. Wolff as a member of the Gettysburg School Board was accepted "with regret" by the board at a brief meeting held Monday evening in the office of the superintendent of schools at the high school. The session was held prior to the joint board meeting at the school.

Wolff, who had two years to serve of a six year term gave no reason for his resignation in a letter sent to the board.

His resignation brings to five the number of school directors to be elected by Gettysburg voters this year. Only three candidates have filed for the posts. The others will have to be filled by written-in votes, unless "sticker campaigns" develop for the positions.

Richard Dreas, named to fill out the year, after the death of Paul Rohrbaugh, is seeking a two year term, to complete the six years started by the late Mr. Rohrbaugh.

Ray J. Kitzmiller and Mrs. Jennings B. Collins are seeking a six year term. Terms of Dr. Ralph D. Wickerham and Mrs. Sidney J. Poppay both expire this year. Neither filed for renomination.

PLANS PUBLIC HEARINGS ON TAX PROBLEMS

In an effort to find out what the people of Adams County want in the way of a state tax program, Assemblyman Francis Worley has scheduled public hearings in six communities throughout the county starting Wednesday afternoon and ending Saturday evening.

Explaining that the Republican caucus Monday evening asked members of the House to be prepared next week to say what tax program they well support, Mr. Worley said that he is taking this means to learn the sentiment of the people of the county on the question of state taxes. "I won't vote for any tax program until I know what the people of county want and this plan will give every registered voter an opportunity to express his position."

Hearing Here Wednesday

The first hearing will be held in the York Springs High School auditorium Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. The others will follow on this schedule: Gettysburg High School Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.; New Oxford High School, Thursday at 2:30 p.m.; Littleton High School, Saturday at 12:30 p.m.; Fairfield Community fire hall, Saturday at 3 p.m., and the Biglerville auditorium Saturday at 7:30 p.m.

Assemblyman and Mrs. Worley will conduct the hearings. Mr. Worley said he regretted that the hearings had to be held this week but that he had not scheduled any hearings for Thursday evening or Good Friday to avoid conflicts with church services.

Mr. Worley wants to know what Adams Countyans think about a proposal to cut state appropriations to school districts, a broad base sales tax, a soft drinks tax, any broad base tax if the revenue is earmarked for education purposes and the prospect of higher local taxes if state spending is cut.

Modern Interior

The Last Supper

The Associated Press

"And he will show you a large upper room furnished and ready; there prepare for us," Jesus told His disciples.

"And as they were at table eating, Jesus said, 'Truly I say to you, one of you will betray Me, one who is eating with Me.' They began to be sorrowful, and to say to Him one after another, 'Is it I?'"

It was a quiet meal they had in the upper room, but it was charged with emotion for the participants, and weighted with portents for the future.

Jesus "poured water in a basin and began to wash the disciples' feet." And they urged Jesus to tell them who would betray Him.

"It is he to whom I shall give this morsel when I have dipped it," they were told. He gave to Judas, the son of Simon Iscariot. Then after the morsel, Satan entered into him. Jesus said to him, "What you are going to do, do quickly." So, after receiving the morsel, he immediately went out.

And Jesus "took bread, and blessed, and broke it, and gave it to them, and said, 'Take; this is My body.' And He took a cup, and when He had given thanks He gave it to them, and they all drank of it. And He said to them, 'This is My blood of the covenant, which is poured out for many.'"

"You will all fall away," Jesus told them. They protested their faithfulness.

"Peter said to Him, 'Even though they all fall away, I will not.' And Jesus said to him, 'Truly, I say to you, this very night, before the cock crows twice, you will deny Me three times.'"

RE-OPEN PLAZA RESTAURANT ON WEDNESDAY

The Plaza Restaurant, "famous for good food since 1914," will re-open Wednesday after being closed since January 22 for extensive alterations which make it one of the most modern restaurants in this section of Pennsylvania.

A formal opening of the new restaurant will not be held until later, probably in May, its proprietor, N. A. Meligakes, said. Most of the interior work has been completed, but an entirely new and modern exterior remains to be constructed before the restaurant will assume its final "new look."

The interior has been completely re-arranged and now provides seating arrangements for 120 diners in a modern setting, with a brand-new and much enlarged kitchen, a new horseshoe counter, new tables and chairs and many stainless steel fittings throughout.

All three rooms of the restaurant have been redecorated and new equipment added. One of the features of the horseshoe counter and its new stools is the new "Soda-master," a self-contained unit which serves complete drinks of four varieties.

Mr. Meligakes came to Gettysburg in 1922, opened the "Sweetland," and a few years later took over the restaurant business from the estate of the late Angelo Camberis.

Gettysburg Joint School Board Votes To Appeal $35,000 Price Set By Viewers On Colt Park Site

PRELIMINARY OK GIVEN BY SCHOOL BOARD ON NEXT YEAR'S BUDGET

A $411,495 budget, approximately $18,000 higher than this year's, was tentatively adopted for 1953-1954 by the Gettysburg Joint School Board at its meeting in the Gettysburg High School library Monday night.

The budget calls for expenditure of $160,900 for elementary schools and $250,595 for secondary school expenditures.

An approximately $20,000-a-year increase each year is shown by the comparison of budgets for the last three years. The 1951-52 expenditures totalled about $373,000. The current year's budget calls for spending of approximately $393,000 and the coming year's budget puts the figure up to $411,495.

Big Chunk From State

The proposed budget includes the following elementary expenditures: General control, $8,665; instruction, $125,730; auxiliary agencies, $3,550; operation of plant, $10,915; maintenance, $2,650; fixed charges, $9,390. The outlay for secondary school expenditures was listed as: General control, $8,665; instruction, $184,705; auxiliary agencies, $4,075; operation of plant, $15,875; maintenance of plant, $12,800; fixed charges, $10,775; authority rental, $13,700.

To meet the estimated 1953-54 costs, the school districts making up the jointure will have to raise $404,455, with the remainder coming from the $4,000 vocational appropriation made by the state for students taking vocational agriculture and home economics, $2,500 from the state medical appropriation for nurses at the schools and $500 from rentals. Of the $404,000 needed from the districts, approximately two-thirds, $269,284.15, will come from the state in the form of reimbursement and the remaining approximately one-third, or $135,286.93, will have to be raised by local taxation.

Whether the new budget will necessitate an increase in taxes in any district was not discussed Monday night. The final approval to the budget will be given in May. In the meantime each district will work out its own budget, and will have to determine from that whether it will need increased revenues.

TAG SHORTAGE UP TO POLICE

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Revenue Department today put up to state police the question of permitting use of 1952 license plates by motorists who have received neither the 1953 plates nor a special card showing they have applied for them.

About 200,000 automobile owners in the state are involved in the mixup over change of license plates. The 1952 plates expire at midnight.

Arthur G. Burgoyne, deputy secretary of revenue, told a reporter "it is up to the discretion of the police" in cases where motorists have applied for new plates but have not received them.

Col. C. M. Wilhelm, commissioner of state police, said he would get together with the Revenue Department during the day over the situation.

The mixup developed, in issuing 3 1/2 million new license plates, because of the January prison riot in the Western State Penitentiary at Pittsburgh. The license plate manufacturing plant was damaged during the riot.

THIRD SUSPECT STILL AT LARGE

A third man, wanted by state police in connection with the attempted holdup of an Iron Springs store last Saturday afternoon, was still being sought by Maryland and Pennsylvania state police today, as arraignment of two others before Justice of the Peace Robert F. Snyder was deferred at least until Wednesday, Sgt. Joseph E. Temple in charge of the substitution here, said today.

Edward Wetzel, 22, of Emmitsburg, said by police to be AWOL from the Indiantown Gap military reservation, and George W. Wetzel, 36, of Waynesboro R. 4, are in the Adams County jail awaiting arraignment on charges of robbery, accomplice in armed robbery and burglary, police said. They were arrested at the home of George Wetzel late Saturday.

Police are still looking for James Willis, 27, of Emmitsburg, said to be the other member of a trio alleged to have gone into the Entenmann store at Iron Springs and demanded money of Mrs. Julia Entenmann. Police said the woman, alone in the store, talked them out of the holdup.

Price Reductions On Dodge Up To $202

Dewey E. McCauslin, owner of McCauslin Auto Sales, today revealed the details of price reductions ranging up to $202 on all 1953 Dodge passenger cars and trucks. Mr. McCauslin said the Dodge price reductions were made possible by increased availability of scarce materials.

"Currently, Dodge retail sales are 30 per cent greater than during the corresponding period last year under government controls," McCauslin said. "We are very pleased that the factory has seen fit to take advantage of increased production and sales, and to pass on the savings to our customers." Mr. McCauslin cited some of the typical savings. On the popular-selling Coronet V-Eight four-door sedan the prices have been reduced $135.80, while on both the luxury Coronet V-Eight Diplomat hardtop and convertible the prices have been lowered $201.80. Additional savings will be affected by lower Federal excise and local taxes on the factory retail price. On some models the new prices also include as standard equipment items previously sold as extras.

RURAL CARRIER IN BIGLERVILLE RETIRES TODAY

Luther Slaybaugh, who has been carrying mail for Uncle Sam continuously for 35 years, one month and twenty-five days out of Biglerville R. 1, retired quietly and without fanfare today.

When Mr. Slaybaugh started working for Uncle Sam, most of the roads were of the dirt variety and during winter months he made his daily rounds with horse and buggy and sometimes a sleigh on the 27-mile route. From 27 miles the route was extended in 1931 when Gettysburg, R. 6, was added to the Biglerville section and about thirteen years ago six more miles were added making the present mileage 48 miles.

Served 3 Postmasters During his long service as rural carrier, Mr. Slaybaugh served under three postmasters. He first served under the late H. U. Walter, later O. A. Nary and the present postmaster, Earl E. Carey.

The only time he ever missed carrying the mail for any length of time was due to a major operation when he was ill seven months.

Mr. Slaybaugh served faithfully and made many friends among his early patrons and later among their sons and daughters on the route.

Football and baseball are listed as his favorite hobbies and he has been a fan for years.

Mr. and Mrs. Slaybaugh have resided in Biglerville since 1916. He has no immediate plans.

ation Association for some time that we would like to have an advisory committee to help us," he said. "The members of the board represent only a small segment of Gettysburg life, and it was felt that we could reach out, through the various town organizations which you represent, and obtain a much wider expression."
"The Recreation Board would like to give the people of the community what they want, provided it can be financed. This is a community program and we are only trying to do what the community wants."
"The idea of an advisory group is not ours alone," Mr. Knox said. "It is recommended by the state and is working in many other Pennsylvania communities. If you report to your respective organizations and get their sentiments, you can draw up a program to recommend to us that meets what the town wants."
Favor Tax Plan
Mr. Knox also asked the advisory group to consider a "conversion" from the Community Chest to a tax-supported recreation program. He said that a two-mill tax could legally be imposed to raise funds for recreation, and in this millage would return more money that is received through the Community Chest. Through the creation of a municipal recreation authority, funds could also be raised for a community building, he pointed out.
The Board of Directors of the Recreation Association, at a brief business session following the joint meeting, voted to postpone the date of the annual meeting of the association from April 22 to April 29. Four directors are to be named, and a nominating committee composed of Carroll Smith, Mrs. Blocher and Dr. Bartholomew was appointed.
Directors whose terms expire are Michael Tate, Donald W. McSherry, Mr. Knox and Adam Myers.
6 Directors At Meeting
President Knox appointed E. Donald Scott to represent the board at a meeting called by the Lions Club on a proposal to erect a community building.

Several Reasons Cited For New Peace Overtures From Reds; Might Aim For UN Tiff

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—What would the Communists gain by agreeing now to United Nations terms and a Korean truce? Since they let the killing go on so long there'd have to be a reason, probably several reasons.

All of them can only be guessed at. It is significant that Chou En-lai, the Chinese premier and foreign minister, talked peace directly after returning from Moscow where Premier Malenkov is trying to fill Stalin's shoes.

Three main possible reasons come to mind: (1) ease the strain on Russia; (2) ease the strain on China; and (3) try to split or weaken the Allies by making them feel there is less need for haste in rearming.

No. 1. The war has burdened the United States, and to a lesser degree its allies, in men killed and wounded and supplies used up. Steel for a tank means less steel for civilians.

Chinese Did Dying. Naturally, the Allied peoples have been more aware of the burden on them than of what the war was costing Russia and China. Russia supplied equipment to the Chinese who did the dying.

But the more Russia's material wealth was squandered on the battlefield, the less it had for its own armament or civilian needs. But Malenkov is new and, so far as the Russian people are concerned, untested.

It's to his interest to win the good will and confidence of the Russians. If he could bring peace where Stalin couldn't or wouldn't, Malenkov at one stroke might feel it made him seem wiser or, at least, better-intentioned.

Seeks Control At Home. He also has some problems: establishing firm control at home and keeping the satellites in line. He wants no more Tito. He began making cooling peace sounds from the moment Stalin died.

No. 2. Mao Tse-tung has had almost no peace since Chiang Kai-shek broke with him and the other Communists in 1927, and especially since World War II and his own war on Chiang.

Korea has been a training ground for his soldiers, but they have died there in bunches. Mao may desire peace, if only temporarily, to rebuild China as he could not while China's energies were absorbed by war.

And Russia has probably been selling Mao military supplies, not giving them away. Another drain.

Korea No Pushover. No. 3. Korea in 1950 may have looked to the Communists like a simple pushover, preliminary to taking over the rest of the Asian mainland. They probably never dreamed the U. S. would react as it did, nor that it would doggedly stay in Korea in support of a principle.

Worse, from the Communists' standpoint, they probably did not figure the Korean outbreak would bring active United Nations support and would prod the Western Allies into closer military alliance.

That alliance has grown visibly in the rearmament of Europe. It has moved toward formation of a single European army, although the idea has not yet been fully approved. Sudden peace might slow down the whole Western arms program.

Sees Uneasy Peace. In addition, the Communists have looked hungrily for economic collapse in the West. They may believe that rearmament slowdown might scramble the West's economic gears, hasten a depression.

If there is peace in Korea — and so far all talk of it from the Russians and Chinese may be only more propaganda — it will remain an uneasy peace.

Peace won't change the Communists or their ultimate intentions. Once peace came, the West's problem would be to stay prepared against achievement of those intentions, five years from now, or 20, or 50.

SEEK MEDIAL BARRIERS' DATA FOR TURNPIKE

HARRISBURG (AP)—A legislative committee today called for reports on what other states have done with medial barriers in its study of safety conditions on the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

"We've asked for digests of the experiences of other states, especially California, so that we can have some background when we attack that subject next Monday," said Sen. Fred P. Hare (R-Somerset).

Hare is chairman of a 10-member Senate-House committee looking into possible corrective legislation to improve the accident record of the 327-mile cross state toll road.

The committee's first recommendation, drawn up yesterday after three public hearings, calls for the expansion of the present 66-man state police turnpike detail plus the assignment of a commissioned officer to spend his entire time directing it work.

To Add 10 Men. The committee did not specify how large it thought the detail should be but state police commissioner Col. C. M. Wilhelm and the Turnpike Commission agreed to add 10 officers to the detail before the end of May.

"We are considering a plan to completely restrict the turnpike for traffic control, adding at least two more barracks," said David Watson, a member of the Turnpike Commission.

"However, we are awaiting the legislative committee's recommendations before we go ahead any further than the extra 10 men," he added.

SCOTLAND YARD ARRESTS CLERK IN SIX DEATHS

LONDON (AP)—Scotland Yard announced today that it had picked up John Reginald Christie, 55-year-old trucking clerk hunted for a week for questioning in connection with the Notting Hill strangling of six and possibly seven women.

Considerable business was also done at the inviting lunch table.

NATURE AND MEN
The world grows lovely now with bloom and song, God's lesser creatures happy with their lot. Men with their wisdom, blundering along, Their greater possibilities forgot.

The grass is green, the trees again in leaf, All things their purpose eager to fulfill, And only men, whose longest time is brief, Hateful and greedy and self-seeking still.

Mankind within it holds the seeds of grace, The love of beauty which endows returning springs, Would it could learn its purpose here to face, And use its strength for all the nobler things.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

SILENT COMPANIONSHIP

Loneliness, I believe, is one of the most tragic of experiences. A tree gives out its seed and other trees grow about it until there is a forest. Animals, especially our domestic ones, like company and are found together. We humans crave companionship. We like to work with others, commune with them, and learn from them. We don't like to live alone, walk alone, or travel alone, although at times solitude is most welcome. I note how travelers on a train like to go to the club car, where many people go for talk and companionship.

Most of us like traveling companions, but the best of these are the ones who talk little, saying much! Silent companionship is a rare experience. I have read that Thoreau, the nature lover, liked to have a walking companion, but liked the silent ones best. Most of us want someone around us, even though that one might be a stranger.

A friend of mine called his book "Silent Friends." Books were these friends. John Kieran is my friend whom I see frequently. He seems to know something important about an endless number of things. It is a joy to be with him — but he says little unless you draw him out. He companionship alone is a stimulating thing.

I once read of the friendship between Tennyson and Carlyle. They would often visit. At these meetings they would light up their pipes and sit almost silently, until one of them would say: "I better be going!" Always an evening of spiritual, as well as intellectual companionship.

In the silence of the forest we are not alone, for there are so many things to which we are akin in nature. There are so many of our friends whom we see only at long intervals but there is a continual silent companionship with them, for so long as they live.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Father."

CAUTIOUS NEW HOPE FOR PEACE IN KOREA RISES ON RED OFFER

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—A cautious but urgent hope that Communist China's latest moves would lead to peace in Korea today overshadowed the many hot issues facing the United Nations. But no new action here on the Korean question appeared imminent at this time.

Canada's Chief Delegate Paul Martin said last night the call by Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai for settlement of the prisoner of war issue holding up a Korean armistice was "an important one."

"It overshadows everything now being discussed in the U. N. If it is genuine, it could mean an end of the war in Korea and would be the biggest news the world has had in 2 1/2 years."

Follows Indian Plan
Chou's offer, broadcast from Peiping yesterday, called for returning home, after a Korean cease-fire, those prisoners who "insisted" repatriation and turning the rest over to an unnamed neutral country till their fate was settled.

To many here, poring over the text of the Peiping broadcast, the offer at first glance appeared to accept the principles of the Indian resolution adopted by the Assembly last December—and quickly rejected by the Reds after it got a tongue-lashing here by Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky.

The U. S. and British delegations left comments to their respective governments in Washington and London.

Blame Vishinsky
Indian spokesmen pointed out that they had introduced the resolution last fall only after they had reason to believe—through their ambassador in Peiping—that the Chinese Reds were ready to accept its compromise principles.

With some amendments demanded by the U. S. and her Western allies, the Indian plan as finally adopted upheld the U. N. principle that no prisoner would be returned to his homeland by force or retained by force after a Korean truce. In rejecting the plan, the Communists demanded that all prisoners be returned whether or not they wanted to go home.

Observers here felt that the subsequent Chinese refusal was dictated by Moscow and was signaled by Vishinsky, who roughly accused the Indians of pushing an American-designed proposal in disguise.

Weighty Calendar
Several diplomats speculated warily that this block had been removed now — in the light of Chou's latest pronouncement. None of them would permit their names to be attached to their comment that perhaps this obstacle was lifted after the death of Stalin.

Issues on which the 60-nation world organization planned action today included:

1. Debate in the full Assembly on Secretary General Trygve Lie's policies for keeping subversives off the U. N. payroll.

2. A meeting of the Steering Committee to decide plans for debate on Burma's charges of Nationalist Chinese aggression.

3. Another meeting of the Big Five permanent members of the Security Council to discuss the deadlock over a successor to Lie.

4. Beginning of a discussion of world economic problems by the Economic and Social Council.

test Premier Alcide de Gasperi's new election law.

The huge, Communist-dominated Italian Federation of Labor (OGIL) called the walkout in "indignation" at Senate approval on Sunday of the new election measure. The bill cleared the upper house after a wild free-for-all in which senators were slugged, chairs and desks smashed and a woman senator slapped a male opponent.

The legislation, expected to swell De Gasperi's government majority after general elections next June, now goes to President Luigi Einaudi to be signed into law.

July is named for Julius Caesar and August for the Roman emperor, Augustus.

U. S. Steel Mills Stopped By Strike

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The United States Steel Company began shutting down all its steel mills in the Pittsburgh area early today after some 4,500 Union Railroad workers struck following a dispute over the disciplining of two men.

A spokesman for U. S. Steel said its plants are entirely dependent upon the Union Railroad and that they cannot operate while the carrier is on strike.

The official said all blast furnaces would be banked and down by early morning and all open hearths as soon as possible thereafter.

Thousands of men already are out of work and it is expected about 30,000 will be idle if the railroad strike continues throughout the day.

IKE AND TAFT MAY CONFER ON NEW GOP CHIEF

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower and Sen. Taft of Ohio may get together this week to discuss the choice of a mutually acceptable candidate for Republican national chairman.

If the two men can't arrange a meeting before then, they may have a chance to talk the matter over informally at a Saturday afternoon golf game—weather permitting. Both currently are shooting in the 90's.

Taft refused to be drawn into any discussion of the public endorsement by House Speaker Joseph Martin (R-Mass) for former Rep. Leonard W. Hall of New York for the job vacated by the resignation of C. Wesley Roberts. Hall may not be looked upon with favor by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, an Eisenhower adviser.

Roberts quit last week after a Kansas legislative investigating committee held that he had violated the spirit of the state's anti-lobbying laws in accepting an $11,000 fee in the sale of an $110,000 hospital to the state in 1951, long before he became national chairman. Roberts' successor will be formally elected at a national committee meeting here April 10.

Gives Advice To Eyeglass Brigade

By DOROTHY ROE
The Associated Press
Men do, too, make passes at girls who wear glasses—if they wear them with an air and choose the right hat to go with them, says Sally Victor, millinery designer whose chief purpose in life is to make women look pretty.

For the eyeglass brigade Sally has a few tips on hat selection:
1.—If you wear glasses, never pick a narrow hat, which focuses on and chops off your glasses.
2.—Never choose a hat that is worn over the forehead because it lowers the face area too much and cuts off the natural frame made by your forehead and hairline.

3.—Select any hat that has width, but not necessarily with a brim.
4.—Pillboxes are a good choice, if they are wide enough and show the forehead.
5.—Sailors are all right, if they have width in the crown and are worn off-the-face.
6.—Particularly good are hats with asymmetric lines, flaring away from the face—uneven lines with plenty of forehead showing.
7.—Cloches are good if tilted back on the head.
8.—Off-the-face bonnets usually are becoming.

Also, cautions Sally, the girl who wears glasses should have several pairs, in different kinds of frames, for evening wear, for general wear and even for sports wear.

The oldest player on the Cincinnati Reds' roster is southpaw hurler Ken Raffensberger. HE will be 36 on Aug. 8.

Grapefruit League Standings "Impossible;" Tigers Lead, Yanks Fifth; Pirates Second

By ED CORRIGAN
AP Sports Writer

Detroit first and the New York Yankees in the second division in the American League!

The Pittsburgh Pirates second and the St. Louis Cardinals last in the National League!

Probably during the regular season, but this is Grapefruit League play where the impossible is possible. And that's just how things stand today.

Brooklyn Normal

The only team that looks like it might be in its normal place is Brooklyn, which is leading the National League with 15 victories and seven defeats. The Pirates are 4½ games behind, followed by the Chicago Cubs, Milwaukee Braves, Cincinnati Reds, Philadelphia Phillies, New York Giants and the Cardinals.

Following Detroit in the junior league standings are the St. Louis Browns, Washington Senators, Cleveland Indians, Yankees, Chicago White Sox, Philadelphia A's and Boston Red Sox.

The Tigers, with a 12-5 record for the spring—and with the opening of the regular season less than two weeks away—show a percentage of .706. The Yankees won the pennant last year with a .617.

Tigers Are Slugging

Fred Hutchinson's Bengals, who finished in the cellar last season, are the logical contenders to finish in the same spot this time. But if they can get some pitching to go with their hitting, they could win more ball games than anyone thought possible. In four of their last five victories, including yesterday's 9-5 triumph over the Yankees, they've simply outslugged the opposition.

Four home runs, including one with the bases loaded by Owen Friend helped score-arm pitchers Ned Garver and Art Houtteman to the triumph. The Yanks collected 13 hits off the pair.

Ray Scarborough, the Yanks' veteran right-hander, took most of the punishment during his six innings. The Yanks now have lost three in a row.

5th Straight For Indians

Except for a 13-6 shellacking the Indians administered to the Giants—a happenstance that hardly comes under the heading of news these days—the story was pitching all the way down the line. The Indians made 15 hits including a pair of home runs by Ray Boone in the process of scoring their fifth straight victory.

Here's how the pitching heroes lined up:

1. Jim Konstanty, the ancient reliever of the Philadelphia Phils who hopes to become a starter this year, coasted through the entire route as the Phils defeated the St. Louis Cardinals, 7-1.

2. Billy Loes and Glenn Mickens, a couple of young Brooklyn elbowers, shut out the Boston Red Sox, 5-0. Neither Loes nor Mickens has allowed an earned run in 15 innings.

Win For Shantz

3. Bobby Shantz of the A's, the most valuable player in the American League last year, went the distance for the first time since the start of spring training. He pitched his mates to a 4-3 victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

4. Jim Wilson of the Braves became the first Milwaukee hurler to pitch an entire game. The Braves beat their Toledo American Association farm hands, 8-1, with Wilson giving up nine hits.

5. Warren Hacker and Bob Schultz of the Cubs held the Browns to six hits while scoring a 5-2 decision over the American Leaguers.

The White Sox defeated the El Paso Texans, 13-1.

YORK SPRINGS LOSES OPENER

Pete Kemper's York Springs High School baseball team opened its season Monday afternoon by dropping a 9-5 decision to the undefeated Bolling Springs outfit at York Springs.

Each team tallied twice in the opening frame and then the Bubbler's pounded over four runs in the second. York Springs finally pared the lead to 6-5 but the Bubbler's sewed up the contest with three tallies in the final inning.

The victory was the fifth in as many starts for Coach "Bud" Ecker's squad.

Fair and Golden each poled home runs for York Springs.

Redskins To Have Billy Dudley In Fall

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Washington Redskins announced today that Billy Dudley is coming back into the pro football league as a coach—and possibly as a player.

Dudley, a member of the 1941 Associated Press All-America team while playing for Virginia, went on to be a standout pro for eight years. He dropped out last year, and took a job as assistant coach at Yale.

With the Redskins, Dudley will coach the backfield. He's taking a job held previously by Sam Baugh.

MOST ALL-STATE PA. BASKETBALL STARS WIND UP IN OTHER STATES

By BEN FRENCH

HARRISBURG (AP)—More than half of the All-State schoolboy basketball players of recent years chose colleges outside of Pennsylvania, a survey revealed today.

And only two All-Staters within the past seven years went on to land All-America honors at Pennsylvania colleges.

Bill Mikvy of Palmerton made the All-State team in 1947-48 and added All-America rating at Temple College.

Then Tom Gola came along two years later as the first Philadelphia and Catholic school player to make the All-State team. The 6 feet 5 inch flash was named to the Associated Press All-America team two weeks ago.

Gola stayed right at home to win his honor. He made the All-State team in 1950-51 from Philadelphia's La Salle High and turned down 65 collegiate offers to enter La Salle College.

Only other two-time All-Staters since 1947 were Julius McCoy of Farrell (1951-52), Mike DePaul of Reading Catholic (1950-51) and Swoyersville's Joe Holup (1951-52), plus two years ago.

McCoy, the left-hand hook shot artist who led Farrell to the state championship last year, enrolled at Michigan State and captained the freshman cage team this spring. He is rated as a stand-out prospect for the varsity next season.

Holup, joined his brother John—a 1950 All-Stater—at George Washington University. The Holups combined to give the Washington, D.C., school one of the highest scoring collegiate fives in the nation this spring.

DePaul was a standout on his hometown Albright College quintet. The 16th annual Associated Press All-Pennsylvania scholastic basketball team will be released tomorrow after a poll of more than 100 sportswriters, sportscaster and coaches.

Other Recent All-Staters

Here's the rundown on where other recent All-Staters went to college:

1949—Gilbert Reich of Steelton, Army and Kansas; Mickey Zernich of Alliquippa, Pitt; Ted Marchibroda, of Franklin, St. Bonaventure and Detroit; Lou Brown of York, Virginia State.

1950—Clarence Burch of Oil City, Pitt, and Tom Yewick, Michigan State.

1951—Ed Fleming of Pittsburgh Westinghouse, Niagara University. 1952—Hal Brown of York, Penn State (left school last month to try out for organized baseball); John Riser of Washington, Columbia Prep of Washington, D. C.; Bill Miller of Bethlehem, to a Virginia prep school.

Weeks Sees Good Business This Year

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks sees bright prospects for most of the nation's businesses in 1953 as a result of teamwork in government.

"The political weather for business now is fair and warmer," Weeks told 900 persons last night at the 79th annual dinner meeting of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce. He declared businessmen themselves will have an increasingly major role in helping the administration make his forecast come true and added:

"It is appropriate for businessmen—from now on—to know that the Department of Commerce is primarily concerned with their interests."

Father and Son Team As Officials

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—Bill Keefe, a veteran of some 20 years of high school basketball officiating, has come up with the answer to "Where can we get another official for Friday's game?"

Keefe put his 19-year-old son, Ronnie, a Nebraska Wesleyan University sophomore who is majoring in physical education and plans to coach, believes officiating experience will be beneficial later on.

"Officiating will keep men in touch with the rules at all times, and a coach with an officiating background is bound to be more charitable toward officials calling his games," young Keefe says.

One Count, the 1952 three-year-old champion, has a long and bushy foretop. This hairy growth is almost as distinctive as Whirlaway's famed long tail.

TABER SETS NEW BUDGET-CUTTING GOALS FOR U. S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Taber (R-N.Y.) raised his budget-cutting sights today and said Eisenhower administration agency heads were being a little modest in their own estimates of what they can save.

Taber, chairman of the key House Appropriations Committee, set a new budget reduction goal of 12½ billion dollars, a boost of 2½ billions over his original target.

Some administration officials, leading off with President Eisenhower, have been speaking of the budget-cutting problem as an extremely tough one.

Proposes "Recession"

Taber said his 12½ billion dollar goal includes not only reductions in new money requested but cancellation of money voted previously by Congress but not yet spent. The technical name for that is recession.

New funds for the Defense Department alone, he said, can safely be reduced by from 7½ to eight billions without jeopardizing national defense. There have been unconfirmed reports that the Defense Department, instead of agreeing to a reduction, will ask more than the 46 billions recommended by former President Truman in his budget for the fiscal year starting July 10.

While a cut of the size he proposed in defense appropriations won't necessarily mean a reduction of the same amount in 1954 fiscal year spending, Taber said, "it will be reflected in future savings."

No Enthusiasm

Taber didn't display much enthusiasm for proposed new appropriation cuts volunteered by the heads of four agencies.

"We always did better than that," he said, referring to the 3½ per cent cut Secretary of Labor Durkin said his departmental budget could stand. Durkin told a Senate appropriations subcommittee the new appropriation requested by Truman for the Labor Department could be trimmed $10,400,000.

Previously, the Justice Department said the Truman requests for it could be cut $7,450,000 from the $191,900,000 originally sought, and the Agriculture and Commerce Departments volunteered cuts of 130 millions and 169 millions respectively.

BALLET DANCER GIVES DETAILS ON FOOT CARE

Pamper your feet. If you want to be foot-happy and carefree, ballerinas, whose foot and leg beauty is their main concern, spending a good part of the day exercising, massaging and prettying their feet. It pays off in beauty dividends not only at the feet but in the face as well.

You can't look pretty if feet and legs are tired from overwork, believes ballet dancer Paula Lloyd of the Ballet Theatre. Says she: "Faithful care is what a ballet dancer's feet require. After all it is our business to keep our limbs up to par. After a day of class, rehearsal or performance a regular routine of foot care must be performed to keep up good foot-work."

Miss Lloyd thinks that any girl who spends a good deal of the day on her feet in any job could take a leaf from the ballet dancer's notebook to help keep her limbs relaxed.

Uses Exercises

After a session of dancing Miss Lloyd warms up her feet with a series of little exercises. The main idea, she says, is to keep the muscles warm so that they do not cool off too quickly after exercise and stiffen. She bathes her perspiring feet in good quality witch hazel.

Her foot exercises include rotating the foot from the ankle, making little circles in the air. This helps relax legs and heel tendons. She spreads her toes apart to help prevent stiffness and soreness. These are good little exercises, she says, for girls who wear high heels a great deal. Toes are likely to become cramped and tendons at the heels can shrink a little if high heels are worn constantly without foot massage.

She massages her feet gently with her hands until they tingle, bathes them gently with witch hazel until they feel limber.

Her dance day is about 8 to ten hours — 3 hours for performances, 1½ hours, class, and 1½ hours of rehearsal. After the performance she frequently goes ballroom dancing for a few hours.

When she is dancing for fun, Miss Lloyd prefers to wear high heels. She thinks the change gives her feet a rest, just as low heels would rest feet which normally are shod in high heels. She thinks ballet shoes can be pretty tiring when worn all the time, so if she wears flats, she prefers shoes with a little heel.

The most relaxing treatment for abused feet is to lie down with the feet raised slightly higher than the head, she says. Miss Lloyd usually does this after her exercise, massage and witch hazel treatment. Then she tries to nap for an hour before going on to another dance session.

ROOM FOR EVERYBODY—Airman 2/c Richard K. Mackey, Miami, Fla., who is 4 feet, 7 inches tall and is believed to be the smallest man in Air Force, chats with Airman 2/c Floyd G. Hunnicutt, of Fort Worth, at Carswell Air Force Base, Texas.

3 Cars Of Ammo Explodes; 15 Hurt; Many Homes Ruined

LEWIS, Ind. (AP) — Demolition squads worked their way today through the desolation left in this little coal mining town by a nightmare of fire and flying shrapnel from three freight car loads of exploding ammunition.

Scarcely a half dozen houses remained habitable in this town of 300 population after the five hours of explosions touched off by a train derailment Saturday night, but no one was killed. Fifteen persons were injured, but only three went to hospitals.

A flier reported seeing pockmark from shells as far as three miles from the crossing where the worst explosion gouged out a crater 30 feet deep. Some shells were found embedded in the ground two miles away.

24 Cars Missing

In the big crater which blocked both the railroad branch line and a state highway lay the twisted wreckage of uncounted freight cars. The Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific Railroad reported 24 cars unaccounted for. The front and tail end of the 107-car freight train were pulled away from the inferno of fire and flying artillery shells.

Military authorities in Chicago said one of the cars contained 105-millimeter artillery shells for use by the Marines but wouldn't say what was in the two others.

A spokesman for the Chicago Army Ordnance district said intense heat could set off the shells, though their uncut fuses would make them almost non-explosive by impact.

R. C. On Job

The train was bound from Chicago for Bedford, Ind., with the ammunition going to the Crane Naval Ammunition Depot 25 miles west of Bedford.

State troopers, crane demolition men and navy shore patrol men joined a 10-man demolition squad from Camp Atterbury, Ind., in the search for unexploded shells. They planned to continue the detonating work around the clock.

The Red Cross, which set up an emergency shelter in the Masonic Temple, reported nine houses and four barns destroyed and 54 houses damaged.

Italy's Reds Win Treaty Action Delay

ROME (AP) — Italy's big tough Communist party lost its strike protest against the government's election law but appeared certain today to have won a delay in Italian ratification of the European Defense Community Treaty.

The worst Red riots in five years flared over the entire Italian Peninsula yesterday, hand in hand with a Communist-called general strike. The strike apparently was a failure, with most workmen staying the job. But the riots virtually ended hopes that the high-priority treaty might be ratified before the Italian general election, expected in June.

New Cabinet Post Gets Senate Okay

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's first reorganization plan—to transform the Federal Security Agency (FSA) into a Cabinet Department of Health, Education and Welfare—has won easy congressional approval.

The new department, which will be the 10th of Cabinet rank, will become a reality 10 days after the President signs the resolution of approval on which the Senate voted yesterday.

Although of vastly different actual size, the sun and the moon take up approximately the same arc of space in the sky when observed from the earth.

South Koreans Beat Chinese Off Christmas Hill In Snow

SEOUL (AP)—South Korean troops threw back a Chinese Red drive on Christmas Hill on the Eastern Front in a driving snowfall Monday as U. S. Marines dug in firmly on bloody Outpost Vegas in the West.

Some 300 Reds jabbed 50 yards beyond Allied advance defense lines on a 350 yard front west of Christmas Hill, which is west of the Mundung Valley. South Koreans drove them back, killing or wounding 100 Chinese.

Entrenched Marines on smoldering Vegas had won back the outpost at dawn Sunday after being knocked off three times in the Reds' bloody spring feeler drive on the Western Front last week.

Grimy and weary, the Leathernecks smashed a three-pronged Red drive on Vegas late yesterday and broke up a Red force massing for another attack Sunday night with a thundering curtain of artillery fire.

In the air, U. S. Sabre jet pilots reported probable destruction of one Communist MIG jet and two damaged.

SHRINE CIRCUS OPENS APRIL 13

For the sixth consecutive year, the Hamid-Morton Company is bringing its wild animal and acrobatic acts to Harrisburg for the Zembo Shrine Circus April 13 through 18 at the State Farm Show Arena.

One of the features this year will be the lion act of Pat Anthony, a paratrooper in World War II, who used his GI bill after the war to enter animal training. When Anthony, a resident of Cleveland, applied for that type of training, he found no such course was offered any place.

However, a special act of Congress made possible this training. Now Anthony is rated as one of the leading trainers and handlers of lions in the circus and entertainment field. It was this act, incidentally, that caused considerable excitement some time ago when two lions escaped while the circus was in Memphis, Tenn. The two beasts, frightened at their sudden freedom, were later returned to their cages.

29 Circus Features

Among the 29 features at the circus is the "Poodles" Hanneford family riding act from Australia. The clown member of the act, "Poodles," explained that it is unusually difficult to obtain horses for bareback riding.

"The close union, the mutual confidence of horses and rider are qualities that are developed the hard way," he explained. "A good ring horse cannot and must not forget, even to a step, the pace that carries him around the ring. Any change in that choppy, springboard gait may mean injury or death to the performer."

The performer added that light-colored horses are used generally, to conceal the powdered rosin that is applied to the animals' backs for easy footing.

School Taxes May Be Shifted Back To Districts For $100 Million Cut In State Budget

HARRISBURG (P) — Pennsylvania's lawmakers set out today to test grass-roots reaction to a proposal to cut the commonwealth's budget by $137,700,000 by shifting the tax burden to the local level.

Some of them, however, weren't too optimistic that the Republican-sponsored plan—offered in the hopes of avoiding new taxes—would get anything but a frigid reception at home.

The program would transfer more than 100 million dollars in education costs to school districts. Speaker Charles C. Smith (R-Philadelphia) said one phase alone would require school districts to increase real estate taxes by six mills to make up for a cut in state aid.

"We're economy-minded first of all," he told a newsman, "but if the people won't take shifting the school tax load back to the grass-roots then we'll have to take up the question of new taxes."

From Rep. H. G. Andrews, Democratic floor leader, came the bristling comment:

"It would mean new local taxes instead of state taxes. What's the difference?"

estate taxes by six mills to make

Many New Suggestions

The new cost-cutting effort got underway as Gov. John S. Fine's Tax Study Committee offered a dozen suggestions for new taxes yesterday to solve the state's financial dilemma. The committee did not back any specific levy.

The committee's suggestions for new revenue embraced the once-defeated income tax and the oft-proposed general sales tax. Fine himself has conceded that neither could be passed by the 1953 session.

Other sources of revenue the Tax Study Committee listed were taxes on pari-mutual betting, soft drinks, amusements, tobacco, restaurant meals, hotel room rentals, head tax on adults, gas, electric, telephone and telegraph bills and unincorporated businesses and professions.

Would Get $630 Million

In aggregate, such levies could bring in 630 millions a biennium. Set up by the governor last year to probe the commonwealth's fiscal problems, the committee said the state's present tax system is "plainly inadequate."

"Not only are very substantial new taxes necessary, these taxes must also be continuing permanent revenues," it added.

The first bill to pass the 1953 session won final approval in the House last night. The measure was a Senate-approved bill to codify and bring up to date Pennsylvania's law on commercial transactions.

In the Senate, confirmation was given to the appointments of Samuel S. Lewis, forests and waters secretary, and E. L. Schmidt, highways secretary.

Lewis and Schmidt were questioned by Senate Democrats yesterday for assurance that a "no-politics" policy would prevail in their departments.

No Agreement

Both Senate and House Republican caucuses discussed at length the budget-cutting plan but failed to agree on details of the plan.

"We discussed it at the caucus but it's a long way from being in position to jell," said Smith. "There seems to be quite a bit of support for the idea but we haven't got down to details yet."

Highlighting the $137,700,000 budget-cutting plan is a proposal to save 40 millions at the state level by requiring school districts, instead of the commonwealth, to pay an automatic $200-a-year salary boost to teachers in the next two years.

Another phase of the program—it would permit the state to keep $5,700,000 in liquor license fees which are now returned to municipalities—was assailed by Walter Greenwood, counsel for the League of Third Class Cities.

May Mean Head Tax

Greenwood said such a move could result in the imposition of a $5 head tax in all 47 third class cities to make up for the loss in revenue.

The budget-cutting plan was worked out by Republican leaders in an effort to avoid 157 millions in new taxes which Fine has said are needed to balance the commonwealth's $1,400,000,000 for the next biennium.

At least one lawmaker—Rep. Francis Worley (R-Adams)—planned to hold a series of public hearings in home district this week on the plan.

"I want to hear all sides of it before I decide where I stand."

Board Appeals

August term does not handle civil cases.

Won't Delay Building

The school board's attorney added that the decision to appeal the viewer's decision does not mean that the school board will have to wait the decision of the jury before it can construct a school on the site.

"Make no mistake about it," Brown said, "that land in Colt Park belongs to the school board and has belonged to it since Dr. Ralph D. Wickerham, president of the board, went at your direction onto the land and claimed it last year. The only question before the jury will be question of how much you have to pay for it. You could start building today if you were ready to do so. And don't forget you own the land. The condemnation proceedings cannot be called off if you decide not to build a school there you still own the land. You would have to sell it, either at public sale, private sale or by sealed bids, if you don't want the property."

Wickerham Gives Background

Brown recounted the steps already taken in the Colt Park matter in a lengthy report to the board which included the testimony given at the hearings held before the board of view.

President Wickerham reported on the attempts of the planning committee to obtain land for school purposes last year, attempts that ended with the taking of the Colt Park property. The same committee, Wickerham said, first investigated the Codori property in the northeast section of the town. There they found that much of the property had already been sold as building lots and that all deeds given up to date had contained provisions, that the area would be used for residential purposes only. Arrangements had been made to extend Barlow St. through the property. In addition, Wickerham said, the state Department of Public Instruction was not satisfied with the amount of land available there.

County Asked $40,000

Next the committee investigated the possibility of obtaining a 10 acre section of the County Home land lying north of E. Broadway and east of the Harrisburg Rd. The site was "ideal," but the Adams County Commissioners asked $4,000 per acre, or $40,000 for the plot, he said.

Feeling that price was too high, and unable by law to condemn county land, the committee investigated the possibility of the Meals property on the Mummasburg Rd. Turned down there, the committee went to the trustees of Gettysburg College to ask if it would sell college land along the Biglerville Rd., across from the county jail. Again turned down, and again unable to condemn because the land is already "necessary for educational purposes," the committee next studied the Colt Park site, and the board voted to condemn that land.

Gives More Figures

At the time the condemnation proceedings took place at Colt Park, Wickerham said, the committee had no idea that there was any immediate possibility that the U. S. government land east of the high school might soon become available.

In his report Dr. Wickerham gave figures on possible costs in connection with getting the government land ready for a school. He quoted John Long, manager of the Gettysburg Municipal Authority, as estimating that construction of an eight-inch water line from Wade Ave. to the government site will be $3,000, with the cost somewhat less if a road is built in from Wade Ave. to the proposed school site. Because at present only a three-inch line

Three Girls Bruised In Hanover Mishap

Three young women suffered bruised knees when their automobile was involved in a three-car collision at noon Monday in the 300-block Broadway, Hanover. They were treated by Dr. Floyd C. Lepper.

Injured were: Joyce Menges, 19, of New Oxford R. 1, operator of the vehicle; Joyce Utz, 19, of Hanover, and Anna Mae Schuchart, 18, of Abbottstown R. 1.

Police said Miss Menges was driving west on Broadway when her car was hit by a vehicle entering the highway from North St. The impact, they said, threw her car across the street where it struck a parked car.

George C. Wagner, 41, Hanover, told police he didn't see the approaching vehicle when he entered the intersection.

Damage to the Wagner car was estimated at $300, to Miss Menges' vehicle at $350 and to the parked car at $200. The owner of the parked car, Curtis L. Brady, York, was in the vehicle when the collision occurred.

runs into the high school, to extend the water line from the high school would involve running a new line in from Baltimore St. and the total cost would be $4,550. The cost of getting water from Queen St. to the Colt Park site for the school would be $933, with some of that to be returned to the board when private homes are built in the section and cut into the main placed by the school.

The cost of placing sewer pipe to the government property school would be $1,705. The cost at Colt Park will be $1,190. Again because no other properties would be built on the government land, the board would have to sustain the entire cost without any possible reimbursement. At Colt Park it could expect reimbursement on the sewer main as new homes are built in the section and cut into the main.

$25,000 For Roadway

Wickerham said J. William Kendeat, state superintendent of highways for this area, gave him an estimated cost of $25,000 for a 30-foot road into the government property from Wade Ave. A wide road would be needed, he said, because buses would have to pass coming and going from the school. At Colt Park the school would be along thorough-built streets. The only cost there would be for curbs and sidewalks.

But, he added, sidewalks would also have to be built on the government property.

No actual cost of the government land can be estimated until the congress passes a bill authorizing the sale and the land is appraised. Wickerham said the federal government paid $1,000 an acre for land bought this past winter for battlefield use, "if that is any help in figuring what would be asked for this section at the high school." Jacob Applier said Senator Martin was told when here that farm land in this section was selling for about $100 per acre. The government plot contains about 20 acres.

Have State Approval

Dr. Lloyd C. Keefe, superintendent of schools, reported that all was in readiness, as far as approvals from the state are concerned, to have the architect draw the plans for the proposed 20-classroom elementary school structure in the Colt Park area.

mentary school structure in the Colt Park area.

A letter from Dr. Francis B. Haas, state superintendent of public instruction, stating such approval was read. That led to the question of whether the architect should start plans for construction at Colt Park. The 27 to 1 vote to proceed "with all speed" gave that decision.

Attorney Brown pointed out that work at Colt Park could begin before the price to be paid for the land is known by putting an "extremely high" cost of $50,000 for the land in the figures sent to Harrisburg for approval by the state department. With that amount in the budget for the authority it could meet any possible expense up to $50,000 for purchase of the land. Because it is expected the cost will be less than that figures, whatever remains after the land is paid for will be used as a sinking fund.

SEN. MC CARTHY IS AMAZED BY STASSEN BLAST

WASHINGTON (P)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) said today he looks to President Eisenhower to back his dramatic move aimed at reducing free world trade with Communist areas.

McCarthy told reporters he was "amazed" by angry accusations of Harold E. Stassen, mutual security director, that the senator and his Senate investigations subcommittee were "undermining" this objective of U. S. foreign policy.

Stassen, at a televised public hearing yesterday, flung the accusation in a broadside denunciation of Saturday's announcement that McCarthy's subcommittee staff had negotiated agreements with Greek owners of 242 ships to carry no more cargoes to Red China, North Korea or from one Communist port to another.

Vice President Nixon, to whom Eisenhower has assigned some trouble-shooting assignments on Capitol Hill, goes to the White House today to attend a meeting of the National Security Council.

A highly placed source, declining to be named, said in an interview Nixon has been briefed thoroughly on issues in the McCarthy-Stassen dispute, and would report to Eisen-

"I tried four other brands of television and never got any satisfaction from them. Then I had a Crosley put in and I got the clearest, sharpest picture ever received. You have to see Crosley to know what real, good reception and television pleasure is. Try it and see."

Dr. Fred H. Kroll

"After trying three different television sets, we bought a Crosley because it gave us a sharper, clearer picture. And once we have it tuned, we don't have to bother getting up to make any adjustments. We really enjoy our Crosley."

Mrs. Thomas J. Flanagan
5 Hill Street
Courtland, Pa.

"We naturally thought of Crosley when we decided to buy a television set, because my sister and brother each have a Crosley and, after comparing them with other makes owned by friends, who were always adjusting dials, we decided Crosley's easy and dependable performance was for us. We're so happy with our Crosley."

Mrs. Joseph Travehan
135 Gardner Avenue
Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

"When I went to buy a television set, I knew nothing about it, but after seeing Crosley perform, I was sold. Friends of mine have other brands of television, and I have never been able to enjoy watching their sets because they are constantly twirling dials. Once my Crosley is tuned, all I have to do is sit back and enjoy the show."

Mr. Joseph Shuttlock

"Believe me when we say we're so glad the salesman convinced us of the fine points in a Crosley television set. Everything he said is true, just as he promised, and the many hours of pleasure we get from our beautiful Crosley are more than friends of ours get from other sets. # WILSON SEEKS DEFENSE SLASH OF 4 BILLIONS

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (P)—Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson would be a happy man if he could find some way to cut defense spending about four billion dollars.

That is one figure being mentioned by advocates of less armed forces spending as a means of helping to balance the budget.

But some Pentagon people, in the best position to know, think four billions an impossible cut if this country is to be reasonably safe.

That's one of the reasons Wilson is finding that running the Defense Department is a little different from running General Motors, where he used to be president.

Yet, Wilson is one of the key figures and main hopes in President Eisenhower's ambition to reduce spending and balance the budget.

Estimate $46 Billion
Former President Truman estimated the cost of all Defense Department expenses for another year after July 1 at about 46 billion dollars. He thought it was the lowest figure for doing the job.

Wilson could go "whacking" through the Army, Navy and Air Force with a butcher knife, but his economy would total up to disaster if the armed forces then proved inadequate in a crisis.

For example the Navy now is

SAY TRUCKERS TRY TO DIVERT PUBLIC OPINION

PHILADELPHIA (P)—The Pennsylvania Railroad, defendant in a 250 million damage suit filed by truck operators, charged Monday the suit is designed "to divert attention from mounting public opinion" against what the PRR called highway destruction by heavy trucks.

The nation's largest railroad made the charge in an answer filed in Federal District Court to the triple-damage suit against the PRR and 30 other Eastern railroads.

The Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association contends in the suit that the railroads and a New York public relations firm, Carl Byoir Associates, Inc., engaged in a "campaign of vilification" against the trucking industry.

Charge Discrimination
Operators of heavy trucks, the PRR said, hope that the court action will enable them "to avoid the payment of proper and sufficient charges for their use of the highways, and thereby retain their ability to compete with this defendant on an unfair and discriminatory basis."

"As a payer of large amounts of taxes to the federal, state and local governments," the PRR said, "it (the railroad) is adversely affected by . . . the failure of big truckers to pay their fair share of the cost of building and maintaining the public highways which they use in their private business."

"Misleading Statements"
Users of large trucks, the railroad's answer said, operate "only about five per cent of the nation's freight-carrying motor vehicles and one per cent of the total motor vehicles using the public streets and highways." The railroad added:

"Heavy truckers have by untrue and misleading statements . . . sought to give the impression that they speak for all of the highway users, including the operators of 8,700,000 small and medium-size trucks and over 44 million passenger cars, and by these means have attempted to keep from the public and the legislatures information of manned at only about 80 per cent of wartime strength. Wilson could reduce that to 75 or 70 per cent.

If he tried that, he'd have to weigh the savings he achieved against the possibility of a sudden war with Russia and a Navy too undermanned to do its needed job.

Wilson must make the decision after getting recommendations from the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

If Wilson were to cut defense spending much below the figure the Joint Chiefs recommend as necessary, his would be the responsibility for any disaster that resulted from this reduction.

the great and costly damage to the highways that they, a small fraction of the highway users, have caused and are causing."

Filing of the PRR's answer followed the taking in New York and Philadelphia earlier this month of pre-trial depositions.

FRANKFURT, Germany (P)—Lt. Gen. Manton S. Eddy ended his 36-year Army career at a big farewell review in his honor here today.

The retiring commander of the U. S. Army in Europe said he was satisfied those forces are "in a high state of readiness to meet any emergency."

YOUNG FATHER CHARGED WITH SLAYING WIFE

COATESVILLE, Pa. (P)—Harold Maisenhelder, 23, is in Chester County jail today awaiting formal arraignment on a charge of slaying his estranged teen-aged wife by firing bullets from an automatic pistol at her Saturday.

Maisenhelder, a ferryboat deckhand, was given a preliminary hearing on Sunday before Alderman Henry Jackwood. The proceedings took only a few minutes. Maisenhelder was then whisked away to jail in West Chester. The date for his formal arraignment will be set by Dist. Atty. Joseph McKeone.

Coroner Creston I. Shoemaker of Chester County, said an inquest into the girl's death would be held Wednesday night in Coatesville. Shoemaker said a post-mortem examination disclosed the young woman's body contained "at least" 12 bullet holes.

Admits Shooting

State police said Maisenhelder admitted he shot his wife, Evelyn, with an automatic Colt revolver after she refused to return to Chester with him.

State police quoted the youth as saying he hitchhiked from Chester to Coatesville Saturday to see his one-year-old daughter, Diana Lee. Maisenhelder found his wife ironing in the basement and admitted Maisenhelder, an employee of the Chester-Bridgeport ferry, received a Medical discharge from the Army in 1947 after three months service. He and his wife separated four months ago.

TWO KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

MT. HOLLY, N. J. (P)—Two Philadelphia men were killed Monday when their auto sideswiped an oncoming car, careened into a field and hit a tree, state police said.

They were tentatively identified by police as Joseph A. Kodes, 58, and Harry Strorine, 47.

State police said the car carrying the victims veered into the opposite lane of Rt. 70 in nearby Pemberton Township, striking the side of a car driven by Aerographer's Mate 1C Richard Rinehart, 25, of Waynesburg, Pa., stationed at Lakehurst Naval Air Station.

The impact threw both cars off the road into a field, where the Philadelphia car smashed into a tree, state police added. Rinehart was not seriously injured. Both cars were wrecked. State police said a technical charge of causing death by auto would be lodged against Rinehart, who said he tried to swerve out of the way of the other car but couldn't make it.

About 28,000 U. S. people are killed each year in home accidents.

or Joseph S. Clark Jr. of Philadelphia, the mayors said:

"The education of more than four million children is being impaired by inadequate buildings, under-trained teachers, and part-time school attendance due largely to the inability of the state and local taxing units to meet the growing costs of education."

TWO SLAYERS ARE EXECUTED EARLY MONDAY

BELLEfonte, Pa. (P) — Two convicted killers from Westmoreland County in Western Pennsylvania were the 328th and 329th persons to die in Pennsylvania's electric chair in a double electrocution Monday.

Donnick Daverse, 40, sentenced to death for the fatal shooting of his wife, Theresa, on April 11, 1947, was the first to die. He was pronounced dead by Dr. J. G. Veixell of Bellefonte at 12:35 a. m. just five minutes after being led into the death chamber.

Joseph Stevenson Phillips, who was convicted last Aug. 15 in the slaying of a night watchman during an attempted robbery at a brick company in Derry Township, was pronounced dead seven minutes later, at 12:42 a. m.

Appeals Are Rejected
Executioner Frank L. Wilson began the first double execution in the state since February, 1952, by turning on the 2,000 volts of electricity at 12:32 a. m. for Daverse. He repeated the performance at 12:39 for Phillips.

The State Pardons Board two weeks ago rejected appeals by both men for commutation of the death sentence to life imprisonment.

The Rev. Richard Walsh accompanied Daverse and the Rev. Ted Voorhees went with Phillips. Both priests spent some time with the men in their cells during the day. The bodies were claimed by relatives.

Both Daverse and Phillips entered the death chamber and took their seats without uttering a word. Daverse closed his eyes after being strapped into the chair, while Phillips looked around as he was placed in the chair.

PROPERTY LOSS OVER MILLION IN TRAIN CRASH

ERIE, Pa. (P) — New York Central Railroad officials estimated today that property damage alone will total more than one million dollars in a triple train crash which killed 21 passengers and injured about 150.

After a 10-hour rest, wrecking crews resumed work Monday to clear the twisted wreckage of two passenger trains and a freight.

Two tracks on the railroad's main east-west line have been opened to traffic. Officials hope to have all tracks restored by this evening.

One Unidentified
Only one of the 21 persons killed in the pileup late Friday night just inside Pennsylvania, four miles east of Conneaut, O., is unidentified. The victim is a woman, about 30 years old.

More than 60 of the injured remain in hospitals here and in Ash-tabula, O., and Conneaut. Three are in serious condition. They are Harold Ballman, Cincinnati, O.; Mrs. Elsa Dickout, Kenmore, N. Y.; and Clayton Miller, Middlebury, Ind.

After a routine probe, the FBI ruled out any possibility of sabotage.

NEW STYLES IN AMERICAN HOSE

By The Associated Press
The one thing most envied by women of other countries is the beauty and availability of American nylon stockings.

In the making of stockings, as in the manufacture of motor cars, there's no beating U. S. know-how. Year after year American manufacturers put the sheerest and most flattering nylons within reach of every budget, and year after year American legs grow more glamorous.

This year a number of new gimmicks are offered for the further glorification of the glamorous gams. One is the new high luster in nylons developed by Roy E. Tilles, of Gotham Hosiery Co., who says:

"For the first time since the ingrain-silk stockings of Ziegfeld Follies days, the leg with a gleam can be yours again."

New decorations such as jeweled clocks and embossed velvet motifs are in vogue for after-five wear this year. The latter, designed by Ardmore, features a black embossed lac-ing at the back of the stocking.

No matter how beautiful your stockings may be, they won't look well unless they are the right length, says Leonard J. Solomon, of Manchester Hosiery Mills, who gives the following rules for determining correct hosiery length:

"Lay your present hosiery on a flat surface and measure from the middle of the turn of the heel to the top of the stocking. If you have found them to be a comfortable fit, remember the number of inches so that you can order the same length again. If they are too short or too long, estimate the length that is right for you—and remember it."

Although virtually all countries of the world show more boys than girls in the population, earlier deaths of boys and men often make women more numerous in the total population.

THINGS OF THE SOIL

By DAN B. VAN GORDER
The Gettysburg Times Agriculture Editor
Questions of our readers on lawns, flowers, vegetable "rowin", poultry, fruit, livestock and general agriculture will be answered by return personal letter without charges if a 3-cent stamp is enclosed.
Address Letters To
THE GETTYSBURG TIMES AGRICULTURE EDITOR
Box 1528, Washington 13, D. C.

March is hastening to its close and there remain several "must" jobs to be done in the vegetable and small fruit garden before April arrives on the scene.

Well rooted strawberry plants should be set out this week if weather and soil conditions permit. Experience amply shows that plants set out in March, even as late as this week, fare better over their first summer than those transplanted in April. Of course, theoretically strawberry plants may be handled any time if their roots are not unduly disturbed.

For several years we have urged vegetable gardeners to grow salisfy, better known as oyster-plant or vegetable oyster. Because this hardy vegetable requires a long growing season, seed should be sown this week, preferably in the row. Soils should be deeply mellow to promote long, tapering roots, with organic matter plentiful to hold moisture throughout the growing season. Roots are not injured by freezing but may be left in the ground until they are needed. Perhaps a supply should be dug in late fall and buried to bridge periods of inclement winter weather.

Carrots, peas, beets, kale, radishes and onions are not injured by light frosts. All of these should be started between March 5 and 15. But in case their planting has been delayed, at least small plantings should be made before March marches from the calendar.

Onions may be started from sets or seedling plants now available. Another outdoor bed of leaf lettuce should be seeded.

Collards and Swiss chard may be started this week, seed sown in the row. Both are resistant to light freezes.

Gardeners who have neglected or been compelled to delay setting out raspberry, blackberry, and dew-berry plants may take care of this task at once with a minimum of risk. Well rooted plants should, however, be in their place little later than this week. Protect the roots from drying before and during planting operations.

It is a favorable time to sow tomato seed in window boxes, cold-frames or mild hotbeds for early plants. The tiny seedlings should be moved to individual pots or bands as soon as two good leaves form. Keep the plants thriving in a sunny coldframe.

This week is an excellent time to plant cucumbers in quart fruit baskets, such as those in which grapes and other small fruits are sold. Later thin plants to the three most sturdy in each container and keep these growing in a sunny cold-frame. By the time weather conditions permit safe transplanting to their growing site in May, small vines should be forming. Final transplanting must be done without disturbing the roots.

Summer squash should be started in a similar manner soon, with but one plant to each container. These, too, should be moved to their growing place in early May without disturbing the roots.

Plants of at least two varieties of improved blueberries may be set out even this late. First emphasis must be placed on preparing an acid soil for this excellent fruit plant. Blueberries will fail in neutral or alkaline soils.

Enterprising gardeners who wish to gamble with extra early cantaloupe plants may start a few now in the same manner as advised for handling early cucumber plants.

NOTES ON GLADIOLUS TROUBLES
Until recent years gladiolus growers seldom reported any destructive diseases affecting their plants. In fact, most of the ills and enemies of this popular ornamental have arrived within the last two decades. But present problems warrant a knowledge of how to chart a careful program of prevention before the growing season starts.

Gladioli should be moved to new sites every year to avoid soil-borne diseases. Too, defective corms should be discarded at planting time or planted in an out-of-the-way place.

Fusarium blight, often called "yellows," is perhaps the latest severe disease to strike this flower, apparently prevalent wherever gladioli are grown. A general yellowing of the foliage is the first evidence. Thereafter an inspection of the corm will show a brown rot beginning at the basal scar and progressing upward into the center and outward toward the leaf bases. There are other forms of fusarium infection usually termed rots.

In plans to reduce or avoid these and other corm diseases it is important to plant the most disease-free corms obtainable. Also, corms should be dried thoroughly after digging, all defective corms should be discarded or stored separately, and loose husks should be removed to disclose likely infections. Storage in a well ventilated room is essential, preferably in shallow trays with slat or woven wire bottoms to promote free circulation of air among the corms.

During the growing season all plants showing signs of diseases should be taken up promptly and destroyed. Too, all gladiolus refuse should be gathered and burned before winter.

With gladiolus planting time at hand in early April, growers should plan to disinfect corms before planting. This is one of the most effective ways to reduce many disease dangers. Mercuric chloride is recommended at the rate of one ounce to 7½ gallons of water or one standard tablet to each pint of water.

Because this chemical does not dissolve readily in cold water, it should first be dissolved in a small quantity of hot water and then diluted to the advised proportion with cold water. Mercuric chloride corrodes metals, therefore, it should be mixed and handled only in earthenware, glass or wooden containers. Users should wear rubber gloves for safety against its extremely poisonous properties. Portions of the solution left over should be buried deeply.

Gladiolus corms should be soaked in this solution 12 to 17 hours to kill bladiolus thrips and 8 to 10 hours to reduce most corm-borne diseases. Corms should be planted while still moist from the recommended immersion.

Thrips are by far the most widely destructive insect foes of this flower. They live over winter solely in stored corms. They cause a silvery of the foliage at first, followed by a general browning as if the plant had been seared by a flame. The recommended corm disinfection will destroy surviving thrips; prompt spraying infested plants will help reduce thrips which migrate in from surrounding regions.

All gladiolus growers should write their Congressman for free copies of Farmer's Bulletin 1860 — Gladiolus Diseases and Insects. The editor will be glad to furnish readers our free gladiolus planting and care instructions.

FEEDING TREES AND SHRUBS
All fruit and shade trees and most ornamental shrubs demand annual feedings with suitable fertilizers to maintain them in normal vigor. In the case of fruit trees both yield and quality of fruit are influenced; with shade trees and shrubs their beauty and general utility are measured by the sustenance they receive. Because tree and shrub feeding is a task for spring, owners should at this time know clearly the "when" and "what" and "how" of this work.

Perhaps, for the benefit of persons who may have neglected consideration of tree and shrub plant food needs, it may be advisable to observe a few facts about the "why" of tree and shrub feeding. Only superficial thought is needed to understand that these plants occupy their original sites year after year and often decade after decade. Of course, their roots cannot continue indefinitely to travel farther and farther to reach new supplies of nourishment. Within their rooting limits they will ultimately exhaust or seriously deplete plant food stores. It is to meet these permanent needs that annual feedings are necessary.

Experience indicates that fruit trees should be fed shortly before they come into bloom, with apple tree feeding extending over a period of two or three weeks before blooms are expected. Deciduous shade trees are generally fed around the time their first leaves begin to open. Because shrubs vary greatly in leafing and flowering dates, early March feeding is usually practiced.

Kinds of plant foods to use in all cases depend somewhat on local conditions but in the main experienced orchardists advise nitrate of soda for fruit trees, also for grape vines. Deciduous shade trees need a complete fertilizer, something near a 6-8-6 strength. If this mixture is not procurable, a 5-10-5 fertilizer will serve. Most ornamental shrubs are benefited by working well rotted manure into the surrounding soil in early March, adding a few handfuls of 6-8-6 or 5-10-5 fertilizer.

The "how" of tree and shrub feeding is varied. If fruit trees and grape vines are kept under cultivation, the fertilizer (nitrate of soda) may be broadcast in a broad belt around the plants and cultivated into the soil and allowed to be washed in by rain. Here, as with shade trees, it is important to understand that few feeder roots are located up near the trunk base. Most plant foods are taken in out in the area near the ends of the longest branches.

One of the better ways to feed shade trees that are growing is permanent sod is to make concentric circles of holes with an iron bar or soil auger, 8 to 14 inches deep, extending out slightly beyond the spread of the longest limbs. Into these the proper quantity of fertilizer for each tree is divided and watered into the soil.

The dosage of fertilizer per fruit tree is determined by the tree's size, soil conditions and individual needs. Shade trees are usually fed according to size — 2½ pounds of fertilizer for every inch of trunk diameter at waist height.

Every fruit tree owner should write the editor for a copy of our tree feeding instructions, which include proper quantities for various fruits at different tree ages. Merely enclose a stamped, addressed envelope for this guide.

GIRL KILLED; 5 HURT IN CRASH

SAYRE, Pa. (P) — A 14-year-old girl was killed and five other persons injured, one seriously, when the auto in which they were riding rammed into a tree stump in the middle of a street in Sayre borough Sunday night.

The victim was Miss Janice Valliee, of Athens. The driver of the car, Corliss Howard Jr., 18, also of Athens, was reported in serious condition in Robert Packer Hospital, Sayre, suffering from a broken jaw, broken right leg and internal injuries.

Sayre police worked 15 minutes to extricate the Valliee girl and Howard from the front seat.

The tree stump was one of a number of trees that had once been used to divide the broad street. The other injured were Raymond
